Long Bio

Originally from the Catskills and Adirondacks of New York, Dominick is now a Nashville recording artist. Music was a big part of his life as a teen, however it took a back burner once he joined the military. After a successful military tour and working in the civilian world for a time, Dominick felt a calling to lead and inspire others to put their faith in action through the DRIVEN11 ministry and so began the journey. He sees himself simply as an ambassador for Christ. Even though the medium changes from music, speaking, writing or teaching the mission remains the same.

Helping others grow and then watching those same people positively affecting those around them is what excites Dominick. His personal mission is to lead and teach those with in his trapezoid of influence so that they can be successful in their relationships, vocation, ministries or personal struggles. This personal mission has allowed him to be a part of some great ministries and leadership roles. He is humbled at all the opportunities offered to him through the years and he looks forward to what God has in store for DRIVEN11.

Dominick's favorite part is telling the story. He sees every interaction with the people he meets as a chance to tell the story of WHY we are here through a biblical perspective. This is more than just singing, speaking and performing. It is all about encouraging and leading others to have greater relationship with Christ through the people in their lives.

When Dominick is not wearing his performance hat you will find him working with church leaders, business owners and their teams. Developing practical solutions to many of the challenges that arise in these vocations and ministries. Most of all he enjoys investing time with his wife and 3 children and mission work with Food for the Hungry.
